

Luke 2:10 - "Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

Dear friends,

Christmas 2008

At this season, I am reminded of why I am invested in the ministry of missions, because God wants all people everywhere to know Him in a personal way. And He also wants those who carry His message to be cared for, strengthened, encouraged, and know the fulness of joy and peace in the midst of serving Him. We also want them to be reminded their efforts do not go unseen by our Father.

This Christmas I want to thank you for your love and care for me personally. Your encouragement helps me make a difference in the lives and families of some very special people. Your gifts sustain us as we "care for those who care for the world." May God bless you abundantly this Christmas and have a blessed New Year.

Together to make Him known,
